

Webinar on

Service Charge

Introduction

The Sixth Amendment to the Employment Act provides for the general rules on the collection and distribution of service charges. Following concerns related to the ambiguity of the provisions regarding service charge, the rules have been further elaborated by the Regulation issued by the LRA.

Whether you are an employer, human resources personnel, accountant in the tourism sector, it is important that you have a thorough understanding of the changes in action as this can impact your obligations under the law.
